REGULATIONS

Pointfighting

Introduction:

The regulations of IMAF of February 2017 were revised in October 2019.

Due to the cooperation with the Tiger & Dragon Association, the regulations of IMAF were partly adapted to TDA Int'l and extended by individual categories (such as Grappling and Kumite).

Note:

Each competitor is responsible for his own to read and deal with this rules book.

POINTFIGHTING

General:

In point fighting, two fighters compete against each other to score points through speed with controllable, permitted techniques. The techniques are done with light contact (semicontact).

At each detected hit, the fight is interrupted by the Referee. He then announces the score immediately.

Only clean, powerful and well controlled techniques are considered. The techniques have to retreat into themselves.

Semi-contact means that the techniques have an effect on effective and regular execution. In this design, however, the technique may hit the head or body only with light contact.

Safety equipment:

In Pointfighting there is mandatory:

- head protection – also with a faceshield
- mouthguard
- gloves (closed)
- chestguard (women)
- groin
- shin guards
- foot protection (heel joint!)

The protective equipment must comply with the rules, be safe and not damaged. The decision on this is made by the Referee. In case of objections and protests by the competitor, the tournament management decides.

Wearing glasses is prohibited.

Contact lenses and competition glasses may be worn at your own risk.

Health of the competitor:

Each fighter declares with the registration that he has no health restrictions that would prohibit the participation in the competition.

Each competitor is responsible for himself and has to clarify the suitability of the competition in advance with his doctor.

The organizer assumes no (!) Verification of medical fitness. The organizer accepts no liability for damage suffered by the competitor through participation in the tournament due to his illness, although he has no medical certificate.

Coach:

In pointfighting, each fighter may have a maximum of one supervisor. Every fighter has to look after his own coach.

The coach is entitled to give up a fight for the fighter if he believes that his fighter's health is at risk.

The coach has to behave always sporty and fair to the opponent and his supervisor. He can not apply for time-out, may not enter the area without the permission of the Referee and he must not interfere in the decisions of the Referee.

Referee (Main Judge)

There is a referee who stands facing the desk.
For the function of the referee see "general rules".

Additional tasks of the referee

- Announcement of decisions - loud and clear
- The fight starts and ends only on his command – not the timekeeper's
- He awards cautions and penalty points
- He has the final decision on complaints
- He can give time-outs
- He can stop the fight,
 - For the announcement of ratings
 - To give warnings and punishments
 - To send the competitors to a neutral position
 - To accept objections and complaints in case of breaches of the rules
 - Due to injury of the competitors
 - To exchange, repair or properly tighten equipment

Judges:

There are two side referees (=judges).

The judges report every point they see. However, only the Referee has the option of scoring.

The judges indicate the point with their hands: 1 finger = 1 point, 2 fingers = 2 points
They should move with the fighters to see exactly the fighting.

Exchange of the officials:

Referees and Judges who score a division can not be exchanged until the division is completed.

Wrong division:

Competitors starting in the wrong division will automatically be disqualified.

Protests:

Protests regarding scoring and unsportsmanship can only be made by the coach.

Possible protests:

Before the fight:

- because of the composition of the judges

During the fight:

- in case of a rule violation by the referee or the opposing side
- in case of injury of the competitors
- in case of incorrect scoring

After the fight:

- in case of a rule violation by the referee or the opposing side
- in case of incorrect scoring

Fight time:

The fight time is 2 x 90 seconds.

Winner is the fighter with the most points at the end.

10 points ahead – the fight is won and is terminated by the main judge prematurely.

Final fights last 2 x 120 seconds.
Winner is the fighter with the most points at the end.
10 points ahead – the fight is won and is terminated by the main judge prematurely.
prematurely.

There is a break of 60 seconds between laps.

At a tie, the fight is extended by 1 minute.
If there is still a tie then there will be a renewal. Here decides the first point. If this stays off, the extension is terminated after 1 minute.

- If the fight must be stopped due to an illegal hit, the fight for the hit responsible fighter is considered lost.
- If the competitor is responsible for the illegal hit, there are no warnings or penalty points (e.g. head goes down to the knee).

Out of Bounds:

If a competitor with both legs is out of the competition area he can not score anymore. With jumps kicked the fighter must also land again on the competition area so that it can be counted as a point. If a competitor leaves the competition area to avoid a point, he can be warned or given a minus point.

Non-Competing Penalty:

If the competitor has no intention of performing the combat properly in the martial arts, the fight is automatically considered lost.
